ACTIVITY.

Where best and cheapest things are four There doth activity abound.

WHAT is commonly called the dull season -and which to most houses truly is-in the clothing trade is upon us. But it don't seem to diminish the business of the house which retails clothing at wholesale prices; the house where every garment sold is a bargain. The dullness rests on those who can't compete. There is no day in the year but somebody is wanting something in cloth-ing. We keep what they want and sell it to them at the right price. Therefore they buy and we are busy. We do not blow and scream and howl, but quietly slide prices down so low people can't help but buy. It is amusing, and gratifying as well, to hear new customers exclaim: "Do you always sell clothing so cheap?" Of course we do, only sometimes more so. This is our "more so" month. We mean no dull-ness shall strike us if prices can help it, and prices does help it. Two things, remember, you can always depend on with us:

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Advices from various parts of Belgium combine in furnishing evi-dence that the agitation for universal suffrage ncreasing in intensity and scope and must inevitably lead to a revolution. This letter proposed that a meeting he held at St. Louis on Sunday, October 5, under the joint auspices of the M. A. A. C., the Manhattan Athletic Club and the Salford Harriers, the Manhattans and the Harriers to receive between them one half the net receipts and the M. A. A. C. the remaining one-half of the net receipts. The letter suggested that the meeting include runs of 100 yards, 220 yards, 430 yards, 380 yards, one mile and five inlies, and also a seeple-chase of two miles. These are to be all handicap events, and the local cinb is to give such additional games as they may see fit. The prizes are to be gold, silver and broops medals for first, second and third respectively, in each event and to cost $25 a set. Is case of financial loss the local cinb is to stand it, as the visiting teams will be out hotel bills, railroad fare, etc. It is also stated in the letter that the games are to be given for the purpose of advancing and popularizing amateur sport in she United States and not for the purpose of making money. The first competition between the teams is to be held at the Canadian championships which take place at Montreal on Saturday, September 27. Then the teams propose to hold joint meetings at Detroit, Wednesday, October 1; Chicago, Saturday, October 4; St. Louis, Sunday, October 5; Buffalo, Saturday, October 18; Philadelphia, Saturday, October 18; Philadelphia, Saturday, October 18; Philadelphia, Saturday, October 25, and Boston, Saturday, November 14

a New York Athletic Club man, and jealousy is at the bottom of the complaint. There is a great deal of hypocrisy in this opposition to Sunday games and I know of some people who are opposed to Sunday games who have not hesitated to resort to the lowest of tricks and knavery. The Eastern people do not understand the feeling in the West on the question of Sunday sports and amusements, and it would appear that they never will. In regard to St. Louis beer I might add that the New York Athletes display considerable fondness for it during their visit here and maist on taking it in preference to anything else. Another their visit here and insist on taking its in preference to anything size. Another reason for this man's attack on the proposed tour is no doubt the fact that it will detract considerably from the Eastern championships of the A. A. U. to be held at Washington October II, the date on which the Manhattan team is to appear at Buffaio in conjunction with the Salford Harriers. The absence of the Manhattans from the championship games is certain to detract materially from the interest in them. Since the Manhattans were the backbone of the old N. A. J. A. A. It is just possible that the feeling against them in the A. A. U. has not quite died out. The Manhattans have always been the promoters of international contests, which they almost invariably carried to a successful quimination and this is another of their enterprising undertakings and it deserves success.

It is well known that St. Louis, will patronize beer and sport on Sunday, and that is probably the reason that Sunday was selected. Yet they insert the clause about not wanting to make money. MEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Grand Central officials in this city say: Some men at Buffalo have been taken back, but only as individuals and not as members of any organization. The labor erganization have not been recognized asy more than heretofore.

Webb Opposes Arbitration.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 .- The correspondence derly was made public yesterday. Mr. Pow-Webb, but was compelled to write as he had leave the city. Mr. Powderly wrote that his information was that prior to August 8, a number of Knights of Labor had been discharged because they were such. This caused the men to believe that a plan was being carried out to get rid of the K. of L. men, so they took the intiative and struck. Mr. Powderly then soon as he can return to New York. Vice-President Webb replied to Mr. Powderly's letter and said that the men in question had not been discharged because they were Knights of Labor, but because there was good reason for letting them go.

Then Mr. Webb concludes with the following remarks; "The management of this company do not deem it consistent with its continuance and prosperity in business, and with the discharge of the duties it owes to the people, to submit the propriety of its action in the discharge of any of its employes to arbitra-

On all sides rumors are flying and important deriving men's Association are at the Grand Union Hotel. On all sides rumors are flying and important developments are hourly expected. Vice-President Webb was at his office bright and sarly this morning and seems as determined as ever to fight the Knights. Mr. Webb said to a reporter:

as ever to fight the Knights. Mr. Webb said to a reporter:

"For the past few days I have been making arrangements to get a new force of firemen in case those on the road go out, and I have so far succeeded that any delay from that cause will only be temperary. I have enough assurances from the firemen on my road to convince me that in case they are ordered out a number of them will not go. Then, if necessary, I will stop every particle of freight traffic, close up every yard and keep them closed until I have obtained a sufficient number of firemen to resume the freight traffic. Chies, I think, I can accomplish within forty-eight hours, as I have-long lists of men who will come at the wages we will pay." In the conclusion he said: "My road will expend $2,000,000, and in this I am backed up by the stockholders." Up to 11 o'clock no meeting of the labor aders had been held.

Up to 11 o'clock no meeting of the labor leaders had been held.

ALL DEPENDS UPON SARGENT.

It is said that Mr. Sargent will at once call upon Mr. Webb and get his version as to how the firemen have been treated. Mr. Hayes was spoken to by a reporter this morning, but refused to say anything beyond the fact that a conference would be held at the instigation of Mr. Sargent. Mr. Sargent, Mr. Hayes said, would be authorized to speak for the leaders, and a great deal depends upon Mr. Sargent's views. It seems to be the general opinion of the men that Mr. Wobb's action in refusing to arbitrate will result in the train conductors, firemen and switchmen being called out and a prodigious strike declared this afternoon. The conference, it is true, will have no jurisdiction over the Brother-hood of Locomotive Engineers, but at the same time it is one of the rules of the brother-hood they cannot work with non-union men, so that if the firemen should go on a strike, as a matter of course, there would be nothing left for the engineers but to quit work also.

A SERIOUS AND CRITICAL POINT.

Mr. Powderly is at the St. Cloud Hotel. When asked by a reporter about the trouble, he said: 'Matters connected with the New York Central trouble have reach a most serious and critical point and one that will interest the people of this country mose than they imagine at the present time. I do not mean to say that there will be a general strike and I do not deny it. There will be a meeting to-day of the General Executive Board of Knights of Labor which will be attended by the representatives of trainmen, firemen, awitchmen and conductors and at that meeting fine action will be taken."

Although the name of Chief Sargent appears on the register of the Grand Union Hotel, Mr. Sargent had not arrived up to noon and his advent was eagerly looked for. When he gets here a meeting of the Supreme Council of the Federation of Railway Employes will be held at once.

Messrs. Howard and Wilkeson were seen in their room at the Grand Union Hotel:

"What programme have you for to-day, Mr. Wilkeson?" was asked.

"I have no authority to say anything. Mr. Howard and myself were summoned here by Mr. Sargent, and as he is not here yet we must wait until he arrives and learn what he has to say. It is not probable that Mr. Sargent will call upon Mr. Webb the moment he arrives." arrives."
Mr. Powderly was also seen, but had nothing to say pending the conference with his collesques. Sargent is looked for at 30 clock this afternoon. He stopped at Albany on his way down and hence the delay.

Five freight trains, averaging thirty cars each, passed through the city this morning from the West Albany yards south. The yardmaster at West Albany said this morning he had thirty-five crews to man freight trains, which will be sent out from there as each one is made up. Supt. Bissell says it will be but a short while this the freight traffic is resumed.

The Outlook Ominens BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19. - There is but little change to be noted either in the strike situation or the condition of the Central's freight traffic this morning. The new yard conductors and brakemen brought from the East are slow at getting acquainted with the yards and are awkward at the work. Several have had narrow escapes from being injured. A Boston man named Gue was thrown from the top of a car this morning and narrowly escaped being killed. This is considered by the strikers to be the plyotal day, and all eyes are turned anxiously towards. New York where the head men of the great labor federation are in council. A largely attended meeting of switchmen and Knights was held this morning and was addressed by John Devlin and District Master Workman Lee. Charles H. Trenholm, Grand President of the Steam Railroad Men's Protective Union of New England, is expected here to day. Mr. Lee received a cipher message from Trenholm last night, the contents of which have not been divulged, but a leading striker said there is every probability that the members of that body will go out if the Central strike is not settled in a day or two. The Knights of Labor firemen on the lake boats are prepared to go out if any attempt is made to bandle non-union freight by that route. Railroad men who have been taiked with frankly admit that at no time since the strike began has the outlook been so ominous as now. All concede the probabilities are that by tomorrow night the strike will be ended or it will spread to about all the branches of the operating department and if need be to the other roads in the Vanderbit system. Before leaving for New York last night, Grand Master Swency had a conference with Supt. Senater Plumb's Grant Resolution, WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19. - Congressman from Mrs. Grant stating that in the matter of the proposed removal of the remains of Gen. Grant from Riverside Park to Washington, she and her children will be governed by the wishes of the people as expressed through Congress, Representative O'Neill of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the House Library Committee, has informed the New York delegation that the committee will call up the Plumb resolution looking to the removal of Gen. Grant's remains to this city within a few days. Mr. O'Neill says he is confident of the passage of the resolution, and that is can in no wise interfere with New York in the erection of a monument to Gen. Grant. Representative Quinn says he will oppose the passage of the resolution with his utmost vigor. An effort is making to get absente New York members to resurn to the city. On the subject of the failure to secure the necessary funds with which to erect a monument to Gen. Grant's memory, Mr. Quinn says: 'Sufficient money would doubties have been raised long ago had it not been for a very unfortunate combination of circumstances. Just when the subscriptions were coming in fastest the great Johnstown disaster occurred and New York generously responded with $1,000,000, diverting attention from the monument plans. Since the Plumb resolution passed the Senate, however, there has been a renewed activity and there is no reason to believe the committee will not have funds in abundance with which to begin the work at an early date. I have just received a dispatch from the Secretary of the Frant Memorial Association announcing a meeting in New York tomorrow evening. This, I have no doubt, will cauge renewed interest, and, as a result, reddubled efforts will be put forth to raise funds, and when the honor of New York has been appealed to it has never failed to respond. I would certainly consider it nothing short of desecration to disturb the remains of Gen. Grant since it was his request that he be buried there.'' from Mrs. Grant stating that in the matter of the proposed removal of the remains of Gen.

Relief for the Money Market. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19. -Assistant Secretaries Spaiding and Nettleton of the Treasury Department had a conference with the President to-day with regard to the finan:

election bill and some other matters, was laid before the Senate this morning. Mr. Hoar said he desired to address the Senate on the subject, but would prefer to do so to-morrow. Mr. Quay said he had no objection to the resolution going over without prejudice and with the understanding that it would be taken up then; so the resolution went over till to-morrow. Mr. Plumb's resolution offered yesterday to prevent the sale of liquors in the Senate wing of the Capitol was taken up and Mr. Butler moved an amendment directing the Sergesant-at-Arms to make daily inspection of the committee-rooms and other apartiquents in the Senate wing and report to the Committee on Rules. Mr. Gorman wanted to refer the resolution and amendment to the Committee on Rules. Mr. Blair said something about making a four-hour speech on the resolution rather than have it referred to the Committee on Rules and defeated by delay, Mr. Gorman at once withdrew his motion for reference and the resolution went over until to-morrow.

The tariff bill was taken up, the pending question being on Mr. Plumb's amendment reducing the duty on tin plate from 2 2-10 to 1 cent apound on American tin plate. Upon a request for a division of the question, the presiding officer, recognizing its divisibility, decided that the first part—the reduction in rate—had already been voted 6s and decided in the negative and therefore could not be again voted on in Committee of the Whole. The vote would be taken on the bounty clause, but this change in the condition of the proposition was not acceptable to Mr. Plumb and he withdrew the whole amendment, with the understanding that he would offer it again in the Senate. An amendment offered by Mr. Mc. Pherson, the effect of which would be to place tin plate on the free list, was rejected.

Mr. Spooner offered an amendment providing that after Cetober 1, 1886, in plate lighter in weight than sixty-three pounds per 100 square feet shall be admitted free of duty unless it shall uppear to the President that the aggregate quantity have that effect, but that was a mitigation of the gross and palpable outrare indicted upon the people by the pending bill. It was well known, he said, what induence had operated on the Finance Committee in agreeing to recommend a duty of a cents a pound on block tin. It was the necessity of having the votes in favor of such a pound on block tin. It was the necessity of having the votes in favor of such a gainst the statement made to the Sanate by Mr. Moody in regard to the deposite in South Dakota Mr. Vest cited the statement of Mr. Rearst, whom he spoke of as "the best expert miner on the face of the earth," who had visited those tin mines for the purpose of investment, the mines in the Harney District, and who said there was no tin there in sufficient quantity to justify invastment.

Mr. Spooner said that in view of that marked and irreconcilable difference between himself and Mr. Vest on the subject of tariff, he was almost afraid to support the proposition which he (Mr. Spooner) had submisted.

If the amendment could have the effect suggested he should vote against it, if offered by any one else, and should repudiate it, having offered it himself.

He had not seen the article in the Economist but thought it had reference to the amendment of which he had given notice and while required one-half of the tin plates (instead of one-third) to be manufactured in the United States. He wanted to encourace the tin plate manufacture in the United States. He believed in the industrial independence of this country as far as that could be brought about. If by the imposition of increased duty, all the tin plate used here could be manufactured here (no matter if during the time being higher prices were paid for it) the people of the United States would be independent of foreign producers and the price would be brought down.

WASHINGTON, D. This finally passes the bill. The Speaker stated that the unlinished business in the morning hour, the first morning hour the House has had for several months, was a bill to amend the alien land law. Mr. Carter of Montana explained that the bill had in view the repeal of the alien land law in so far as that law referred to the ownership of mines in the Territories.

W. C. Schutz, President of the Nellie Gold Mining Co., now on a visit to the mine in Idaho, writes to Secretary Creaby: "I have examined the mine carefully at different times and find that the ore looks well, not only in all the drifts, but even above the tunnel level. Last year, in sinking the Taylor and Schutz winges, the workmen got under the vein, which simply makes it necessary to rnn a level from the bottom of the winge until the vein is encountered again and then follow it on the incline. From the way in which the vein and ore body is continuing, and from the appearance of the ore, there is no doubt in my mind but that we have an excellent future before us, and that we will strike it very rich when we get farther down. You can see that we are about making expenses and have not run the mill one-third of the time, on account of not being able to get ore out fast enough to supply the mill, which is owing to the fact of our being short of miners. Have telegraphed for more miners and when we get them and thus be able to turn out the ore sufficient to run the mill to its full especity of forty stamps, we will make a nice profit, as we have plenty of stoping ground opened up. Supt. Erman will immediately make arrangements to concentrate the water from the different springs, which it is believed will give us a sufficient supply to run the mill until the middle of November. and by by building

I didn't suppose anything was amiss and thought the engineer was stopping for water. This was unusual, but there was nothing remarkable about it. Looking out of the window I saw the water tank was right opposite the smoking car and that the engineer was certainly not taking water. But I supposed we had run by and that the train would back up. When it didn't I sent Mitchell out to see what was the matter and followed

''What's the matter?' I asked him?

''Get back he replied;' 'the train's being robbed.'

'We started back at once to the cars and as we went by the baggage car I stopped and iooked under it. There were three pair of legs plain enough, but that is all I saw of the robbers.''

''I got to the smoker as quick as ever I could and as I went through I told the passengers—there weren't many—that the train was being robbed and that if they had any valuables they had better secrete them. I got into the first chair car and having sent back the porter to flag any approaching train and thus prevent a collision. I warned the passengers of the danger. I was going through the other cars, giving warning of the attack, which didn's come, when the train started and ran into Otterville.

''At Sodalia Engineer Dreyer told me of his adventure. He explained that the men climbed over the tender, covered him and his fireman with revolvers and made him stop. There were five men at the tank with guas and they forced the engineer to take them to the express car. The men were masked and not easy to recognize.''

''How much was taken?''

''I have no idea, but I know the run is generally light on Saturday nights.''

John Sullivan, the baggageman, also arrived this morning, but aithough willing to talk he could give no information as to the identity of the robbers. He said:

''I opened the door of the car because I heard Dreyer talking and supposed there was something the matter. We had been running very fast and when the brakes were applied as we approached the tank, it was but natural to suppose that we ware pulling up for water. ''The moment the door was slid back two revolvers were leveled at my head. The engineer was being held by one man while another covered him with a revolver. As a matter of course I threw up my hands for I could do nothing else. One robber jumped into the car and two others watched Dreyer and myself. I saw Avery unlock the strong box while the first robber pointed a gun at his head.

THE CHASE ABANDONED.

The latest news from Sedalla goes to show that the active hunt for the robbers has been abandoned. The bloodhounds proved a failure and have been called off, and the clissens who organized in bands and scoured the country have returned without obtaining any clue of importance. Detectives DeLong and Tuff of the hissouri Pacific secret service are still working. The man who was arrested at Madison has been released, there being no evidence whatever to justify his being held.

How Avery Saved His Valuables.

KANBAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 19 .- The following is a short but graphic account of how the Ex-press Messenger of the Missouri Pacific train was robbed by the masked bandits Sunday morning, near Robbers' Out:

Sullivan and Sam Avery, the Pacific express messenger. Knowing that the Facific express messenger. Knowing that the Facific express stopped at the way station, unless under unusual circumstances, Sullivan opened the door of the ear to ascertain the cause. Just as he opened the door of the ear to ascertain the cause. Just as he opened the door of the ear to ascertain the cause. Just as he opened the door of the car to ascertain the cause. Just as he opened the door of the car to ascertain the cause. Just as he opened the common of the car to ascertain the cause of the own and, and immediately grasping a number of valuable money and jewelry backages from his safe, threw them over among the freight out of sight and closed his safe.

Finding that they had hold of the baggageman, one of the men then turned to the messenger, who was standing mear his safe, and commanded him to open the from box. After a show of reluctance, met by some blood-curdling threats, Messenger Avery opened the safe and the robber took therefrom a number of packages marked valuable. The men then left the car, and the train pulled out. The whole affair transpired in less than ten minutes, and not a shot was fired. So quiet was the whole transaction that scarcely a passenger knew what had happened until informed by the trainmen as they approached this city. There were seven men in the gang, and as they had horses at the water tank, they evidently made a prompt escape from the scene of the robbers. As soon as the train was under way the messenger and baggageman began a search for the packages thrown away among the express freight and baggage as the robbers entered the car, and found first with possibly the exception of one small money package, the robbers had only made away with a number of "smide" jeweiry packages, valued at not more than $500 or $400 at the outside. In the baggage car were Baggageman John Sullivan and Sam Avery, the Pacific express

SCHOOL DIRECTOR BOSLEY SUES E. O'CONNOR FOR SLANDER.

Long Story About Plans Stolen, Re and Copied-Mr. Bosley's Zeal in the Public Service Leads Mr. O'Connor to Stake Some Very Uncomplimentary Re marks, and Hence These Proceedings.

For the further edification of a long suffering public a member of the School Board has commenced trouble afresh in the board which ourts the inner workings of the board a perhaps the inner character of a member E. M. Bosley by his attorney, Jac. B. Dempsey filed a suit in the Circuit Court this morning against Edward J. O'Connor for $10,000 for alleged slanderous statements made several weeks ago by O'Connor which, Bosley claims, has damaged his reputation in the um named. The suit grows out of a very disagreeable affair that occurred July 30. A few days previous to that date there had been

THE BUILDING COMMITTEE f which John W. O'Connell was made chairman. At that meeting the plans of Fuller, Warren & Co. of Chicago for heating and ven-tilating Colored School No. 1 came up and fter some discussion were accepted. Certain this meeting as at former meetings test when anything was done or said by the olans Attorney Macklin was present with Mr. Bosley, and they fairly howled their protestations and vowed they would get even. On July 30 Bosley entered Assistant Secretary Hammorstein's office and as a member of the School Board demanded the plans adopted by the Building Committee. He said he merely wanted to examine them and retired to a private room adjoining Hammerstein's office.

the plans adopted by the Building Committee. He said he merely wanted to examine them and retired to a private room adjoining Hammeratein's office.

CAUGHT STRALING THE PLANS.

A member of the board passed by this private room shortly after Bosley was given the plans and saw a young man working away at a terrific rate of speed copying them. Mr. O'Connor was in the building at the time and was immediately informed of the situation. He went to the private room and saw what he had been told was true. The draughtsman told Mr. O'Connor he had been employed by Mr. Bosley to copy the plans and be quick about it. Mr. O'Connor took both the original and the copy as far as it had been made and told the young man he could go. The plans were given to Mr. Player, who said Mr. Bosley had obtained them without his knowledge. Mr. O'Conneil, chairman of the Building Committee, was informed of the attempt just made and pronounced the affair a high-handed plees of business and unbecoming a gentleman. He at once ordered the plans turned over to Mr. Lee, the School Board engineer, with instructions to allow mo one to see them.

ENGKE OPEN THE DESK.

That afternoon Messrs, Macklin and Bosley secured a writ of replevin from Justice Kane and going to Engineer Lee's office, broke open his desk intending to take the plans and help themselves to copies of them. The plans were not there. Folied in this attempt, they threatened to break open the safe, but needless to say they did not. Being unable to get at the plans Mr. Bosley secured a printed copy of the specifications Fuller, Warren & Co. sent out to builders, and going to Engineer Lee's office, broke open his desk intending to take the plans and help themselves to copies of them. The plans were not there. Folied in this attempt, they threatened to break open the safe, but needless to say they did not. Being unable to get at the plans Mr. Bosley secured a printed copy of the specifications Fuller, Warren & Co. sent out to builders, and going to the Secretary's office, asked Mr. Bernoud firms would be glad to do the work for much loss.

Mr. Edward O'Connor was told what Mr. Besley had said about the plans and his deep interest in the public welfare, to which Mr. O'Connor replied saying he thought Bosley must have forgotten his connection with the Slegel Gas Fixture Co., of which he was superintendent while still a member of the board, and how that firm secured school work through Mr. Bosley's influence. Mr. O'Connor said Bosley superintended the work personally and sent in a handsome bill for work which was never done and for material that were never used. He said a boiler was charged for in Bosley's bill against the Frank-lin School that was never furnished, and that the discovery was not made until a year later, Iin School that was never furnished, and that the discovery was not made until a year later, after the bill had been paid. After making a few personal remarks about Bosley's character Mr. O'Connor said the reason Bosley wanted the plans was to get copies of them and give them to a friend who would underbid Fuller. Warran & Co. and overtee a disturbance

Fuller, Warren & Co. and create a disturbance in the beard.

These are the statements Mr. Bosley objects to. He says they are faise, slanderous and malicious and that by reason of same he has been damaged in the sam of $10,000, for which he asks judgment and costs. He states also that both he and defendant are members of the School Beard, and further that Edward J. O'Connor is the St. Louis agent for Fuller, Warren & Co., Chleago.

School Director E. J. O'Connor smiled when he was apprised of Bosley's action and said it did not give him the slightest concern. "Everything I ever said about Mr. Bosley," continued Mr. O'Connor, "I can prove when the time comes. The statements on which he bases his claim for $10,000 can be substantiated. When the board was investigating matters it developed that the concern which Mr. Bosley had refressuted had received pay for work which had not been completed. A year later, and on Sunday, they went out and finished it. This was at the Stoddard School. Mr. Bosley superintended the work himself, and the janitor fearing that he would get himself in trouble, did not report the incomplete condition of the work. No. Mr.

terstate Commerce Commission reducing the Kansas and Nebraska, the Rock Island re-

Kansas and Nebraska, the Rock Island refused to join the other roads in an opposition to this mandate, thereby compelling them to accede. Further, that this policy is the result of a disposition on the part of the Rock Island to "get even" with the Atchison and other competitors who have been indulging in secret rate-outling to the seriouis disadvantage of the Rock Island.

Investigation disclosed that the facts are that at the conference named no positive action was taken in the matter. General Manager Hays returned to-day from the consultation with Vice-President Ripley of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Judge Gooley at Ann Arbor. He denied that the Rock Island took a stand in opposition to the remaining roads, and said that the general policy had not yet been agreed upon.

It is certain that some of the roads consider the order as illegal and will endeavor to have it rescinded. The proposed rates would bring very small remuneration and competion is very close in these States. The attitude of the Wabash and Missouri Pacific is not yet determined, but the indications are they are opposed to the order. The Chicago & Alton is said to stand neutral and willing to foliow the general decision. The same is said of the Union Pacific. The coming conference to be held in Chicago next Thursday will definitely settle the question.

THE COOK-BALDWIN TROUBLES. An Order Made to Deliver Up the Tables

Ben Fehl Arrested. Judge Withrow made an order this morning the partnership troubles of George L. Cook and Samuel G. Baldwin instructing the re-ceiver, Harry Weldon, to turn over to the Brunkswick-Balke-Collender Co. all the tables Clark entered into business two months age, Clark entered into business swo months age, he bought the tables of the company named, paying $200 cash and giving a mortgage for $500. Owing to the troubles that have arisen the mortgage was not paid and the company demanded its property. The tables will be taken out to-morrow.

The person who represented William Pehlman, Chief Deputy Sheriff, at the raid made last Friday night is said to be Bernard Febil, barkeeper for James Cronin con Market street. It is said he was introduced as Wm. Pohlman and helped City Attorney Butler throw George L. Cook, the proprietor, out of his place of business into the street. A warrant was secured by Wm. Pohlman yesterday charging Febil with representing an officer and he was arrested and locked up. Mr. Pohlman was not in the raid, as Mr. Cook asserts since meeting the Deputy Sheriff, who he says is not the same man he was introduced to last Friday night. Regarding City Attorney Butler's statement made yesterday that he thought the man he threw out of the place was the porter, Mr. Cook says: "That can hardly be. Mr. Butler was introduced to me by Samuel G. Baldwin the moment he entered the hall, and was fully sware that I was the proprietor when they foreibly spected me. The only regret that I have heard Mr. Butler express was that of having twenty men to-eject one and their shameful conduct after I was thrown out."

A Worthless Check.

This morning T. C. Arright, alias Ben Colins, alias Frank Collins, was arrested by Sergt. O'Malley of the Central District on complaint of Louis Baer of the Misfit Clothling Parlors, 888 Olive street. Mr. Baer claims that on the 18th inst. the prisoner purchased $22 worth of clothing, in payment for which he tendered a check for $45. He was given $28 in change. Later it is alleged that the check was found to be worthless. A warrant will be applied for this afternoon.

reduced to a question of fat or force. SENATOR EDMUNDS wants the Quay re solution to "go under," that is, he doesn't want Quay to take his place on top of the Republican heap.

FRANCE must eat pork with us or we cannot consent to drink wine with France. That's about the situation according to Minister REED.

Boss Quay evidently does not believe in experiment in "on years." A campaign the hands of Chicago than even her New of force may be a good thing, but a campaign of fat is a proved daisy.

AN IMPERIAL SPECTACLE. The Czar of Rusia has provided a royal entertainment for his brother monarch. WILLIAM of Germany, who is his guest. Of course there will be powder burning parading of armed hosts, feasting and feting to satiety. There may be bunting also, but these are common pleasures for Emperors. They do not fill the measure of delight for the flerce and lofty spirite of war lords chosen of heaven as the rulers of nations. The mere money of the people cannot purchase enough to satisfy them; the blood of boars and bucks is not rich enough for their tastes. It takes rare sport and higher game to make their postrils dilate and their blood tingle with pleasurable exaltation. War is the true royal sport, and according to machiavellian wisdom the only proper concern of princes. Hav ing no real war at hand, a satisfying substitute must be found. Mimic war, therefore, which is usually a tame pretense, must be pushed to realistic extremes. So it is announced that the plaus for the military pageant provided for the delectation of the two Emperors include ma neuvers and attacks in which many lives will be lost. At the order of the Czar's generals his soldiers will rush furiously upon each other and human blood and mangled bodies, while testifying to the mettle of rough Russian courage, will fire the imperial hearts and arouse their enthusiastic approval. A Nero or Caligula, who had to be satisfied with the combats of slave gladiators, might well have envied these modern Cæsars their rare spectacle of realistic war. To be sure, Russian lives will be sacrileed and Russian homes will be darkened by the shadow of irreparable loss. What of it, since this is the pleasure of their master, the Czar? What of it? Perhaps there may be a different answer to this question when the people discover to whom mastery really belongs.

A GROWING ELEPHANT.

The World's Fair has become a more gigantic and unmanageable elephant on York rival ever expected or predicted. She does not seem to be capable of forming a definite conclusion as to what she shall do with it. Her press, people and authorities are in an apparently interminevery proposed settlement so far has been abandoned as impracticable or beer crushed by the weight of opposition.

The plan of making new ground on the lake front for a part of the Fair and locating the other part far away on the unimproved ground of Jackson Park apparently harmonized the more powerful of the warring interests for a time, and the constitutional amendment submitted by the special session of the Illinois Legis. lature was especially drafted for the execution of that plan. But now, too late, it is discovered that Jackson Park cannot be utilized; that United States engineers gress for the St. Louis harbor may, as declare the lake front fill impracticable and destructive of the harbor of refuge constructed by the Federal Government is for the most important inland harbor, at great expense. Even if the filling were which has received little attention here- practicable and unopposed by the Government, the title to the new made land and the Illinois Central Railroad, which is claiming the lake front, refuses to pay anything towards the cost of filling.

Insurmountable objections and indomitable opposition are arrayed against all other proposed sites within the vast, but swampy limits of the city, and eligible sites beyond those limits are out of the question, because the act of Congress specifically requires a site in the city of Chicago. The forty-five directors are at their wits' end, doing nothing and saying be well for us Americans to join in these nothing, because all that has been done has come to naught, and in the multitude of counsel surrounding them they see a Babel of private snaps, but no ground on which they can locate the fair without spending all their money for land and having nothing left for the fair.

It is announced that the District Attorney of the District of Columbia has proper term to describe execution by discovered a law which prohibits under heavy penalties the selling of lottery ing word fit to roll impressively from a tickets there. Isn't it strange that the Boston tongue and suitable for the culture District Attorney, whose business it is to and leisure of the Hub, but the people of know and enforce the laws, should have the great growing West cannot stop the just discovered one which has been on the statute book for years? A better way to put it, perhaps, would be that the District Attorney has just discovered that the people are aroused over the iniquity of the lottery and will no longer stand the failure to punish corrupt lottery agents for violations of law. The death of Cardinal Newman has evoked many expressions of admiration of that great and the expression of the State convention. There were some forty or fifty Republicans present, and in the absence of President Hecquemburg, who has become a candidate for Congress, the meeting was called to order by Dr. Max Starkloff. He said the meeting was irrequiar because he had not called it, nor nad he been asked to do so. A long wrangle ensued, in which it developed that the Republicans present were interested to a greater exist in the approaching Congressional convention than the State gathering. The discussion showed that the meeting was pretty evenly divided between Kinsey and anti-Kinsey men. Feeling ran high between the two factions and not a few stormy scenes were witnessed. It was finally decided by way of compromise to hold a meeting this evening under the auspices of the Young Men's Progressive Republican Club and there decide upon a delegation for the State Convention.

Nineteen Hours. ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 19.-Three boys-James Sunday launched a small boat and had proilled it with a pair of paddles to a point three-quarters of a mile of the shore, when sudden, violent squalls, for which Lake Superior is noted, struck them. They lost their paddles and the boat began to fill with and 10 years, jumped Into the water on either side of the hoat and each of them put one hand on the gunwale, paddling with the other, while Willie, who is only 7, baied the water out with his hand and hat. Night came on black and stormy, and for sixteen hours the boys swam. They called for help time and again but their voices were lost in the roar of the sea. About 4 o'clock in the morning the boys drifted past a light which they thought indicated a residence near by. When they learned a minute later that it was a vessel they were in despair, but battled on until late in the morning, when at a point nincteen miles out in Lake Superior they were sighted and picked up by a passing schooner.

MILLIONS ON THE LIST.

THE POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES OVER 64,000,000.

-Reports From 12,000 Districts Yet to Come is-Some Interesting Pacts and

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19 .- On Saturday last the Ceneus Bureau finished counting the schedules received up to that date. These returns were all but 12,000 of about 43,000 dis tricts into which the country was divided. From the figures on hand the total population the districts to be heard from will increase the total to 64,470,000. The latter figures tell what the population of the United States was on July 1, 1896. Of course the final and revised count will probably change the figures a few thousand, either way. It will be turns will be in late and recounts in a number of cities are not yet completed. The popula-tions of the States, arranged according to their relative rank, as shown by postal card re turns and estimates based on the count completed last Saturday, are approximately as within this yast domain of coughout the coun-blanks were distributed throughout the coun-try. In July and August they find themselves back in the census office, counted twice and ready for the next statistical treatment. Al-lowing for the time spent in teaching and fitting up the machines, the count proper was not commenced before July I, and the night force was not organized until some time afterward. We have some time afterward. We have actually counted 128,000,000 in six weeks, the entire population of 64,000,000 twice in that period. Beginning with two or three thousand families or 10,000 and 13,000 persons per day, the operatives progressed in dextority, until last Thursday no less than forty-three counted over 10,000 families or 50,000 persons each, one young lady reaching the astonishing total of 16,071 families or about eighty thousand persons. On that day not only the highest averages were reached, but the greatest number counted, the reports showing 1,342,518 families or 6,711,500 persons.

This represents an average of 8,135 families. This represents an average of 8,135 families, or 40,675 persons per clerk. In this connection I think it my duty to say that in the general average the male clerks—man-like, I hear some of the young women whisper—seek range behind the peticoate of the geniler sex. The average number counted by the women clerks was 9,590 families, or 47,980 persons. And by the men clerks 6,567 families, or 33,935 persons. Thus it will be seen that the women averaged nearly one-half more than the men. It is also worth noting that of the forty-three who counted more than 10,000 thirty-eight were women and only five men. These facts, and, indeed, the record of the entire six weeks, show that women are better adapted for this particular work than men. They are more exact in touch, more expert in handling the schedules, more at home at adjusting the delicate mechanism of the machine and apparently more ambitious to make a good record.

He was cruelly used by his captors and oftentimes had been beaten and threatened with death. About fifteen years ago Hiram married and his gypsy foatermother disappeared. Hiram and his wife took up their residence at Richardson, Oak County, Wis., where they lived until a mysterious communication was received by Hiram, telling him his real name and that his mether was living near Moline. This led to an investigation which resulted in the meeting. It is presumed that the letter was written by one of the gypsies in a fit of remores.

Through tastefully fitted parlors, bedrooms, the nursery, servants' quarters, the dining-room, closets and even the kitchen the reporter was shown. At each room Mrs. Loewen asked: "Does there seem to be anything missing?" or "Is not this room full of farmiture?" etc.

"It is said tinatyou seized hrs. Bienenstok by the arms," said the reporter.

Mrs. Loemen called the servants, Mary and Maggle. "Let Maggle come first!" she called.

"Maggie, why didn't you stop me when I was beating Mrs. Bisensstok so?" Mrs. Loemen looked squarely into the the girl's eyes and the latter answered.

"Why Mrs. Loewen, you didn's beat her, but she slapped your face."

Maggie then returned to the laundry and Mary galloped up the hall in response to a call.

Mary then retired to renew her conquests in he kitchen.

Mary theor retired to resew her conquests in the kitchen.

The reporter bowed himself out and went to call on Mrs. Blenenstok.

Mrs. Blenenstok.

Mrs. Blenenstok has a beautifully furnished guits of rooms at the Beers Flats, or Rebman Flats, as they are now called. She requested the reporter to come up to her parior and expressed a willingness to be interviewed by a foot-Distance representative. She told the story of the expedition and said:

"The other day the Leowens sems over to see the milks. I first sems a constable out to see them had a some knives and battle. I first sems a constable out to see them and he told them that if they did not return my goods he would resort to the law to get them. They sent over a few things and said they were all that belonged to me. I told the constable that we would get the others then by process of law, if they prefer to be made to give them up, and we did so.

"The Blenenstoks are still telling about how ties spent money for me when they had me traveling. They don't tell that they sent is a long bill to me and that they deducted that amount from what I should get from them, but they did. Just to show you how they acted with me I'll give you an illustration. When I was married Herman Blenenstok in sletted that I be married at his house. His 'dear sister' was to be married no where selse. We had the wedding supper there and Herman made me pay at the rate of $4 a plate.

"They would buy things for me and thea charge me. They must return it to me doling for dollar, and if proceedings are advised by my attorney I shell institute them."

"I am fearful of almost my own shadow," she said, with a little shudder. "Because I have no way of telling my friends. It seems as though the Helenestok brothers, I will not call them my brothers, have considerable influence, and their standing in business lands credence to anything they may tell. I will not discuss the truth of what they tell, as my present position and pass actions have acted as a sufficient explanation.

"Now, I do not care to say snything against Mr. Jonas, who has acted as my attorney, but from every action and indication he is not representing me as I think I should be by my attorney. He has come to me and asked me to do things which could result in no possible benefit to me and which would, in all probabilities, benefit the Bienenstok brothers. I will say nothing about this, however. Suffice it for me to say that I have notified him that I will need his services no longer as an attorney. I have dropped the case for the present and will rest awhile, probably at some summer resort in this vicinity, until I have completely recovered my health, which is already much better after the cessation of worry and trouble which caused me so much sorrow.

"That I will not permit the case to drop

"That I will not permit the case to drop permanently, however, you may rest assured. My broth—rather the Bienenstok brothers, have money which belongs to me and which I am determined to secure, as it is rightfully mine. I shall resume operations about September I. I have secured the services of Mr. Frank M. Betes and I will spare no expense to attain my rights.

Frank M. Metes and I will spare no expense to attain my rights.

SHE MEETS DR. BAUDUY.

"The public has doubtless formed an opinion as to my sanity or insanity after the stories told in the papers. Now I will tell you something which will surprise you greatly. I was walking down the street the other day when I met Dr. Bauduy. I was not willing to be thought uncivil so as I passed him I said:

"How do you do, doctor."

"Why, how do you do, Mrs. Blenenstok, am so giad to see you, he said, shaking me by the hand.

"Doctor, don't you think you did wrong to treat me the way you did? Don't you think it was unjust for you to give a certificate of my insanity after only a few moments' conversation with me. You only saw me for about five minutes and we hardly talked at all. I think I once heard you say that you could not judge as to a person's sanity by their conversation alone. Doctor, I think that

"'Mrs. Bienenstok,' he said. 'Now please to don't say anything more about this. I will tell you that really I never felt so bad over anything in my life as this."
"'Doctor, I really believe what you say. You cannot imagine how grieved I was when I heard of the action which you had taken in this affair,' I replied.
"'Mrs. Bienenstok, I am your friend, and will after this do anything in my power to assist you,' he said. He seemed so really grieved over having been mistaken that I just forgave him although I shudder when I think where I would be now were it not for the mistake having been found out.
"'I have seen him a number of times since then and he always shown by his actions his sorrow for the mistake which nearly caused my incarceration in a maniac's cell.
"Is aw Dr. Tuholske the other day also. He said that he had always been my friend."
Mrs. Blenenstok will probably spend a few weeks at Lebanon Springs or Sweet Springs with frends. Her health has greatly improved within the past week and the traces of worry and care have almost wholly disappeared from her face. She occupies her time in reading, writing and with her music. She is a fine planist and loves this manner of recreation. She has a large collection of the compositions of the best masters and gives a very entar-

A Comedy of Errors.

The clerks and inspectors of the Street Department and one of the attaches of the City were not cut out for legislators and had better in future leave things to those who know what they are about. The discovery of a blunder recently made by these geatlemen develops a series of similar ones which have gone bea series of similar ones which have gone before. Some time ago the three general inspectors discovered that walking and riding in street ears was too much like work to suit them, so they went about having the ordinance governing such matters amended so that they could draw $20 a month each for horse keep.
They tinkered and tinkered and bothered the legislators until they got the amendment through and the new ordinance duly signed by the Mayor.
Then it was found that through and the new ordinance duly signed by the Mayor.

Then it was found that one Inspector who had previously been allowed the $20 a month was lettout; this led to an investigation and the following startling results developed:

The original ordinance, No. 1208, allowed money for the Street Commissioner and three District Superlatendents. Ordinance 14,220, amending 1208, provided for the Commissioner, three District Superlatendents and three Sidewalk Inspectors. Then came the first break.

instead to the second and provided for the Commissioner three district superintendents and one assistant, leaving out the three sidewalk men, who nevertheless continued to draw their vouchers under the second ordinance. Then comes the one just passed, No. 15,778, which amends again the original No. 1,308, repeals No. 14,295 and leaves No. 15,113 still standing. In this shuffle the one assistant was left out in the cold and the three specials put in.

THE CONFESSION OF BILL NYE.

Being a True and Awful Story of the Poon of "Beautiful Snow," Will the Post-Disparch allow me space its valuable columns to state fully and finally under what circumstances I wrote the now famous poem called "Beautiful Snow?"

I had been reared in luxury, and as a youth be used for its improvements has made it possible to earry out one of the plans decided upon two years age. Mgl. Murphy, the Harbor Commissioner, and Mgl. Miller, the resident Government Enrineer, have always been of one mind on the subject of the St. Louis harbor, and their united Object has ever been to get enough money at one time to do something. They had found out iong ago that simil sums at long intervals were simply so much money throws into the river and lost, Knowing this to a certainty they decided to aim high and bring down big game or nothing. When the demand among the knowing ones and the audabity of St. Louis was the subject of jest. Congressmen Frank and Niedringhaus fell into line and the demand originally made was stuck to most perseveringly. The results is an appropriation of SiS2,000, which is the largest sum ever appropriated at one time for an insuland harbor.

Now that the money is assured the attention reverts back to the plans suggested for the work. These plans were fully set forth in the report of the Harbor Commissioner to Mayor Francies.

The first plan was to crue a longitudinal through the sum of the different courts of my atomach work at the sum of the dament of the harbor commissioner to Mayor Francies.

The second plan was to run a longitudinal Bar, which is just above the Eads bridge on the lill-nois shore almost parallel to the Missouri shore.

The work will start at the east pier of the Merchante' Bridge and continue in almost a straight line down to the end of Horsetail Bar, which is just above the Eads Bridge; this will reduce the variable width of from $,000 to $,000 feet down to a uniform width of 1,000 feet down to a uniform width of 1,000 feet down to a uniform width of 1,000 feet down to a uniform width all the sum of the commence and between the variable width of from $,000 to $,000 feet down to a uniform width of 1,000 feet down to a uniform width all the lid not have to do anything but ent cordwood and clear off timter land, but in an evil hour plece of keel, I wrote the words of "Beautiful snow."

I can show the spot yet.

I took it to an editor and was going to read it to him. He was irritated, because it was Saturday and the business office had expressed a wish to usurp the editorial page for advertising purposes, and he was so hot that he told me to go where it has been the whole aim of my life thus far to avoid and escape, and he waid also that if I would not read the poem and would go far, far away and never come back any more he would give me a doilar. I closed with him and with this generous start I rapidly rose to where I now am, able to keep a team and dawdie shrough the day at the sesside.

AN ORANGE GROWERS' MEETING.

"At the meeting the idea was suggested that we should not confine ourselves to an exhibition of American oranges, but should place side by side with them the fruit of Cuba, Brazil and the Mediterranean in order that all might see how superior the American growth was. This plan emanated from the California delegation, and at first from the California delegation, and at first aroused not a little opposition, as it was thought that it would give the Californians an advantage, as the variety of fruit grown in that State is far greater than can be shown by either Louisians or Florida. But when a few figures were read, showing the extent to which the West Indian fruit was used in this country, and the shiploads of Messina and Sicily oranges that were inneded at New York, our men thought it best to band together against the foreign fruit and show the superiority of American growth irrespective of the influence upon home competition. As a matter of fact this is less than most orange growers are inclined to believe. Each section produces fruit that differs from that of all others, and with a full crop there is little danger of one district driving another out of the market.

"The very best large oranges are, contrary to the general supposition, grown in Louisiana, but the crop is small, and the chances of a failure are greater than in any other State. Certain isolated sections have a soil composed of a sandy loam that is

aliar Case on Which the City De tives Are Employed—Last Seen at the Union Depot Last Night—Jeseph Baum, His Partner and Brother-in-law, Discases the Affair-A Friend's Opinion.

Joseph Levy, a member of the firm of Joseph Baum & Co., shoe manufacturers at Sixth and St. Charles streets, is 'mysteriously missing The senior member of the firm, Joseph Baum, sailed at the Four Courts this morning and asked the assistance of his partner and brother-in-law. Mr. Levy lived with Mr. Baum at — Dillon street. He is unmarried, 57 years old and has been remarkable for his ular habits. Yesterday morning he at business at the usual ar, and at 9 o'clock went out with restaurant. After a friendly glass the custom to the store. He did not return however.

the store with the customers until noon to It was not usual for him to absent himself saying anything concerning his intentions to his associates, and when Mr. Baum learned this morning that Mr. Levy had not been at home all night he was alarmed. engers were sent to the Harmonie Club and to friends with whom he might have spent the night, but no trace of him could be found. He was not a drinking man, and as has been stated his rule of life was very firmly settled. When he was not found at the clouds the clouds to the houses of his friends his relatives became very much alarmed. Detectives Lawler and Desmond, who were assigned to the case, worked in the dark until shortly past noon, when Mr. Weinberg, a friend of the family, informed Joseph Baum that he had seen

MR. LEVY AT THE UNION DEPOT last night.

Telegrams were at once sent to Carrollton, Me. and St. Joseph where Mr. Levy has sisters living asking for imformation concerning him. It was supposed that he might have gone to visit them, but his failure to notify any one of his intention of going on such a trip being coarrary to his life-long habit, but little importance was attached to this theory by his friends.

nor why he went. He was not a drinking man and so far as I knew be had no trouble of any kind. He had no business trouble. He went cut of the store yesterday morning with a couple of customers, and when he left them they thought he was coming back to the store. All we know about his movements after that time is that Mr. Weinberg came in here a few minutes ago and said he saw him at the Union Depot isst night about 90 clock. That is about the time the train leaves to go to Carroliton, Mo., where he has a sister living, and so we have telegraphed there to find out if he went there."

AFRIEND OF MR. LEVY said of him: "Joe Levy never drank too much. He took a drink now and then, but never any quantity. He was too old a man to begin. He had no fondness for low society and was a thorough gentleman. He had all the money he wanted, but never carried any with him. It would be a very unusual thing to find him with $25 in his pocket. He lived with his brother-in-law Baum, and when he was not at home he was at the ciluor in the houses of friends. Those of his friends who have known his life for the past twenty-five years are completely mystified by his disappearance. They don't know what to think about it, and I am propared to hear the worst concerning his fate."

At a latter hour this afternoon no reply had been received to the telegrams sent out by Mr. Baum. The city is being thoroughly searched by the detectives with the hope of finding some trace of Mr. Levy, but as they have no clue the search is methodless.

If he left the city lest night after 9 o'clock he must have taken the Missouri-Pacific Kansas City 9:15 train or one of the suburban trains, as no other passenger trains go out after that hour. His disappearance is very mysterious and there seems to be no immediate prospect of a solution to the mystery.

CAUSING ALARM.

The Revenue Cutter Corwin Ordered to th Behring Sea.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 19. - Dispatched yesterday from San Francisco stated that ome alarm is felt about the safety of the Townsend some time ago. The Corwin on ing Sea at once and is now en route to Seattle first going to Sitka. Capt. Hooper says he has orders to act under the first instructions received. These instructions authorized a very vigorous policy and were rescinded and more conservative course authorized when the Richard Rush sailed. The first orders directed the captains of the cutters to seize all vessels where there was any circumstantial evidence to show that they had been poaching. The prizes were to be stripped of all bunning, their skins and papers were also to be taken and only enough provisions left on board to last the vessel and prize crew until the nearest port was reached. The subsequent orders were that the cutters should serve all vessels found in the sea with a copy of President Harrison's proclation and if the vessel was seen again to capture it. The department, Capt. Hooper's orders indicate, has determined that the more vigorous policy should be followed and although it is late in the season all sailing vessels found poaching are to be summarily dealt with.

A few of the members of the Americus Association held a meeting last evening for the purpose of trying to collect enough money to save the constable from the selling the furniture and fixtures of the cub rooms. came over with his orphesirs a combination of his and Gilmore's musicians was arranged as an attraction.

The Austrian leader and the American leader happened to be staying at the same hotel in Washingten, and the visitor wanted to see Patrick Sarsheld Cilmore. On the morning after the arrival Herr Strauss sent word to Mr. Gilmore that he was "ready to receive Mr. Gilmore." The republicha bandmaster was not accustomed to imperial ways, and happened to be a late riser that morning.

"Oh! tell him I'm in bed," replied the American, as he stretched himself.

As Gilmore was in his bath there came again the same formal message.

"All right," said P. S. G. "Tell him I'll see him in a minute."

In his dressing gown Gilmore swept through the hall and entered the presence of the distinguished Austrian, who was decorated for the purpose, and wore among other things the grand cross of something or other. Herr Strauss put his hands on the shoulders of Mr. Gilmore, just in the manner in which kings and emperors embrace each other. But the stalwart American seized the little Austrian in his arms and fairly hugged him. As they each speak French well, they got along excellently. But the surprise remained for the opening performance at the opera-house. Gilmore's Band was arranged behind the Strauss Orchestra. There was a large and brilliant audience present. Strauss played three pleces and was encored each time. He was a success at the very beginning. Then Gilmore's turn came and he played the "Tannhanser Overture." Strauss' men looked around. Whati A military band tackie such music and in the presence of the finest stringed orchestra in the world! But they were generous enough to display their appreciation as they had shown their surprise at the artistic and wonderful way the Wagnerian music was handied. The sudience applauded loudly.

Then Gilmore struck up the "American Patriot," As he gave new life a

No sooner are the Swiss girls large enough possess the requisite physical strength than and affords, says a traveler. The child has a earliest possible moment, and she drops it only when old age, premature, but mercifal, robs her of power to carry it longer.

I have seen sweet little girls of 12 and 14 staggering down a mountain side or along a rough pathway under the weight of bundles of fagots as large as their bodies, which they no sooner dropped than they hurried back for others. I have seen girls of 15 years, barefooted and bareheaded in the blistering rays of an August sun, breaking up the ground by swinging mattocks heavy enough to tax the strength of able-bodied men.

I have known a young miss, no elder than these, to be employed as a porter for carrying the baggage of travelers up and down the steepest mountain path in all the region round about. She admitted that it was sometimes very hard to take another step, but she must do it!

And she carried such an amount of baggage!
A stout-limbed guide is protected by law, so that he cannot be compelled to carry above twenty-five pounds, but the limit to the burden put upon the girls is their inability to stand up under anything more. But the bur-

It Is Only a Reflection of Chain Lightning From Below the Horizon.

"Look at the heat lightning over in the west. It will be cooler to-night." The above remark was overheard by an elderly naval officer.
''Pardon me, but you are mistaken,'' said the naval man; "there is no such thing as heat lightning in contradistinction to chain lightning, which accompanies a storm. By lightning, which accompanies a storm. By the term 'heat lightning,' so frequently and incorrectly used, people refer to the sheetlike flashes which they see off in the distance, usually ness the horizon and which are so far away that no thunder can be heard.

"Now, the fact of the matter is," continued this well-informed old seaman, "what they really see is simply a reflection in the clouds or sky of the regular chain lightning attending a local storm miles and miles away. Very often, on a sultry night, you will notice three flashes, or rather their reflection, in several different directions. This is because there are thunder storms in progress all about us.
The distance from which the reflection of these flashes can he seen deseen depends largely upon the condition of the atmosphere.
When it is well saturated with moisture these reflections, which appear as 'sheet lightning,' so called, are visible many miles, and if you are sufficiently near you would hear the report and soon become convinced that there is no such thing as 'heat lightning' unaecompanied by thunder."

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Reports of frost in the Northwast and buying orders in wheat opened the market higher, and after some hesitation it started on a regular buil rampage, closing at the very top prices. A large local operator was a steady buyer of wheat and at no time was there much long wheat offered. The higher the market goes the more friends it gains legitimately. There were reports of sales of spring wheat at high prices in New York and engagements of 35,000 bu here. Though closing at the top it looks still higher to us.

Corn was firm all day, and the cooler temperature predicted for to-night him when the same prices. The prices.

Fair buying characterized both provisions, especially January, bought by wheat traders, but sold by packers and room traders.

RESIDENCE PROPERTY SELLING WELL AT GOOD PROFITS TO GRANTORS.

Plot of 700 Feet at McPherson $15.50 a Foot Over Spring Prices-The Demand South of Tower Grove Park

The sale to-day of a piece of ground fronting 698 feet by a depth of 162 at the northeast corner of Westminster place and Euclid avenue at $42.50 a foot may be taken as an indication of the enhancing value of property in that newly developing section of the city near the northeast corner of Forest Park, which has been brought into such prominence since last spring by the construction of the Lindell electric street railway line now in operation along Delmar avenue out to King's highway, just one block now he had a head of the piece and head now head and head of the piece and head of the piece and head now head and head of the piece and the piece and head of one block north of the plot sold. This property was bought on the 17th of March last by Mrs. Gause at $27 a foot from Gen. Fullerton and a few days later Blackmer & Post pur-chased it from her at $50 a foot. June 20 Messrs. Nelson & Mersman sold the ground for Blackmer & Post at $37 a foot to Charles E. Bleyer and now that gentleman has sold the same property at $42.50 a foot to Lehman Myers, a non-resident who has also bought on speculation. Nelson & Mersman are very much pleased with shis transaction as the y were instrumental in persuading Blackmer & Post to buy the ground. They sold out at a good profit on short notice, and now another of Neison & Mersman's clients, Mr. Bleyer, has made a good thing out of it and the firm expects to do equally well with

South of Tower GROVE PARK.

Joseph A. Duffy & Co. have sold two plots of ground aggregating a little over twenty-five acres in the Charles E. Gartside tract at $350 an acre to W. A. Meany, who is going to subdivide the property, grade it and improve the streets, to be disposed of in parcels to suit small purchasers. One parcel of the property, 11 46-100 acres, is located on the north side of Fernod avenue, west of King's highway, about three-quarters of a mite from the Arsenai street terminus of Mr. Scullin's electric inle, running from Fourth and Pine streets to the southwest corner of Tower Grove Park.

Adjoining this plece on the west Mr. Meany has also secured a plot of 12 $3-100 acres, both of which tracts he is going to improve. Previous to the operation of the electric road into this territory there was practically no demand for the property, but since the cars have commenced running numerous large bodies of land have been sold all along Arsenai street on the south side of Tower Grove Park, and home builders have aiready bought a great many small lots near the Morgan Ford road, where city water and electric lights are airendy furnished. At present prices, $12 to $15 a foot, there is no other section of the city where hous sites with equal advantages can be had so cheap.

NOTES.

Emil Becker has returned home from the Grand Army Encampment gushing over with enthusiasm at the royal recention accorded the Missouri division by Bostonians who viewed the grand parade. Mr. Becker says "Boston is a Democratic town, but its people are good loyal, hospitable clitzens."

The contract for cabling the Broadway Street Railway property is progressing very satisfactorily and an extra exertion is being made to have the road in operation by fair time. Property owners in both North and South St. Louis are very much interested in this road and long to avail themselves of a means of rapid transit. The old horse-oar line was the first put down in the city and considered an immense enterprise to its day, but that time less gone and the value of residence property adjacent to it has not enhanced much in the past five years for the want of better facilities for transit.

Singular Accident at Excelsior Springs With Fatal Results.

The death is announced of Mr. George Mills. well known as a local journalist and more recently as an art superintendent and acting been staying at the springs for some time and had an office on the second story of the Elmo Hotel. By some means not clearly explained he fell over the low parapet round the balcony and sustained injuries which were seen to be fatal from the first. He died yesterday afternoon in the presence of his wife and a friend who had been hurriedly summoned from St. Louis. His son, Mr. George S. Mills, is President of the Manual Training School at Toledo, O., but is now on his vacation and has not yet been located.

The deceased was born in Manchester, England, in 1835 and studied law in the country of his birth. In 1867 he came to America, and one of the dist positions he held was that of associate editor on the St. Louis Times, with which paper he remained until its suspension. His next work was on the Daily News and later he started a weekly paper, which however, did not turn out a success. He was next associate editor on the Globe-Democrat, and in June, 1886, he went to Florida on special correspondence work. While there he became interested in the Tamps Tribune, but returned to St. Louis in less than a year. He then became Assistant Custodian of Federal Buildings, resigning in the spring of 1888, to accept the position of Art Superintendent at the Exposition.

Mr. Mills, during his connection with the local press, missed no opportunity to advance the city, and was prominent in advocating an office on the second story local press, missed no opportunity to advance the city, and was prominent in advocating every important work of progress. He leaves a widow and one son.

Mrs. Agnes Gaither of 2924 Bacon street is charged by her husband with being insane. Mr. Gaither does not accuse his wife of being the victim of illusions or with behaving in the victim of illusions or with behaving in any way different to ordinary and sane mortals. But he says she has an entirely too implicit belief in the maxim that it is "more blessed to give than to receive" and is willing to give away every stricle she can lay her hands on. She is said to have recently given away an umbrella and have varied the monotony of her gift distributing by trying to give away a chicken. Mrs. Gaither has been arrested and the condition of her alleged too liberal mind will be investigated.

Two colored men named Sandy Twine and Louis Doyle quarreled over a pair of shoes yesterday afternoon in the alley at the rear of 1122 North Eighth street. Twine seems to have been worsted in the argument and, drawing a knife, retaliated by cutting his opponent on the left arm, inflicting a very dangerous wound. Doyle was taken to the Dispensary, and after the wound had been dressed he was sent on to the City Hospital. In the meantime Twine had made good his escape.

THE DWYERS DISSOLVE.

NEXT SEASON THE FAMOUS BROTHERS WILL OWN SEPARATE STABLES.

Takes the Place of Brooklyn in tion and Players' League Deal-Bacing on Various Tracks - Yesterday's Base Ball Games-Sporting News of All Kinds.

M —Although the sur-prise has been mod ulated by a succession of premature Dwyer Bros. have ship will create. cles all over the country. From the days many years ago when old Rhadaman-thus was the hero of many surprises—and not all of them pleasent for their owners-down the present the Dwyer Bros. have now they are the best-known horsemen in the United States. The Brooklyn stable for many years had no successful rival, and nothing like it has ever been produced in this country. "Mike" and "Phil" Dwyer are famous on race tracks from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and "Mike" and "Phil" are out. They have not quar-reled, but they have agreed that it is better to part, to divide their vast business, and henceforth for each to manage his share in his own way and for his individual benefit. There is no mistake about it this time, for they themselves corroborate the report. They will dissolve partnership at the end of the present season, and all entries since the 15th for next season's races have been made individually and not by the brothers. When the season ends they will have their usual annual sale to dispose of the surplus stock, and then what horses are left will be divided between them as will also their joint property. They will have no joint interests thereafter. The Dwyer Bros. gravitated to the race track from butchers' wagons.

WERE BOTH BUTCHERS and their big shop at the corner of Atlantic avenue and Court street, Brooklyn, is renembered by many residents of the city. Like most other butchers, they early acquired fondness for fast horses and they had some pretty fair flyers drawing their butcher carts. Fast butcher wagon horses soon ceased to satisfy their ambition and they bought Rhadamanthus and laid the foundation their great stable. Rhadamanthus, although horse with great speed, furnished some startling surprises. He had a habit of losing he was thought to be almost sure of losing. In this way he came near bankrupting his owners and the turning point developed Michael E. Dwyer's propensity for "plunging," which has grewn until he is now the recognized "king of the plungers" on the turf. It is said that when the Dwyers had backed through so many defeats that they scarcely had a dollar left, Michael, believing the hors's time to win had come, mortgaged his half interest in him and bet the proceeds on the race. Long odds were offered against the horse and as he did win Michael realized a big profit. Since that day Michael has often astonished his more conservative brother by the extravagance of his bets. It has not been a rare thing for him to risk thousands of delars on chances of winning $1 for every $5 he bet. When Jimmy McLaughlin, who has grown too stout to ride races, and is now trainer for Pierre Lorrillard, rode his famous race on Dwyer Bros.' Jee Cotton Michael is said to have bet $60,000 at odds of $5 to 1 on his horse. As an evidence of his coolness, it is related that before the start Mr. Dwyer walked up to McLaughlin and quietly remarked: "Jimmy, I've backed the coit for a good bit; do what you can with him," and walked awaay. The "oolt" did not appear to have a ghost of a chance to win from the start to within a few yards of the flish, when he saved the day by a famous spurt, and yet it is said Mr. Dwyer did not betay the slightest signs of nervousness. He is considered to be one of the cooleet as well who was never beaten; George Kinney, Lake Blackburn, Bramble, Miss Woodford, flindoo, Hanover, Charley Gorham, King Fish, Inspector B., Joe Cotton, Bootjack, Barnes, Runnymede and many others who achieved fame and fortunes in memorable races. They still own Kingston, Their biggest stake winner this season has been Sir John, the 3-year-old. They also have Bella B. and Eon, a fair 4-year-old, and twenty five or thirty valuable 2-year-olds. Their stable includes a full brother or sister of nearly every famous flyer of recent years. For years their success has been very moderate, and their stable has captured fewer big stakes this season than during any in its full history. Two years ago it was at its zenith. Up to that time it was the brothers' custom to annually take from $100,000 to $150,000 out to Kentucky and bring back prizes of the famous stock farms, but turimen say the luck of the stable has departed. It has been understood among horseuon for some time that the Dwyer Bros. were getting gradually out of racing and turning their attention to solid investments. Michael, however, is still considered par excellence the most speculative of "plungers." He is also said to be liberal to jockeys who land big money for him. When Joe Cotton landed the $72,000 in bets and the big purse for him it is reported that he quietly handed McLaughlin an envelope containing several thousand dollars without saying a word in explanation.

Horsemen attribute the dissolution of partnership to Michael's disposition to bet heavily and Philip's disapproval thereof. Philip has no scruples against backing horses, but he makes more modest bets.

AMONG THE PROPERTY

The brothers jointly control, aside from their horses, are the Brooklyn Jockey Club track at Elizabeth, N. J. They are both supposed to be wealthy, and it is considered doubtful if they seek to regain their lost prestige on the race track. They have worked hard for many years, and are expected to take life easy in future. In their early racing days they did most of the hard work of training their horses. Soon after making their first venture on the turf they disposed of their butcher business and gave all their attention to racing. In those days it was a common thing to se venture on the turf they disposed of their butcher business and gave all their attention to racing. In those days it was a common thing to see them at their stables on the track at daylight working with their norses and watching other people's stables for points. In this way they were enabled to form more accurate judgment as to the probabilities of success. Even when it was no longer negessary for them to do the work for which they were able to employ competent men, they for some time continued their early visits and observations. Of recent years they have had the reputation of taking life rather easy and enjoying their wealth. Their quarrel with Jockey McLaughlin two years ago created considerable interest in turf circles. The brothers blamed the jockey for not winning races they thought he should win and he blamed them for expecting him to win with such poorly trained and unpromising horses. McLaughlin even then had difficulty in training down to proper weight, and soon after he left the Dwyers he quit trying and gave up riding to become Lorillard's trainer. Turfmen say the Dwyer stable had, as McLaughlin claimed, really COMMENCED TO RETROGRADE then, and has been running down steadly every since. It is not considered one of the "lucky" stables this season and the horses are not backed by the public with near the liberality of former years. There have been rumors at times that the Dwyer Bros. had dissolved for were on the eve of dissolving their co-partnership, but whenever these reports have been called to the attention of either of them they have contradicted the statuments. Philip Dwyer, who was at the Saratogs race track yesterday, is quoted as having made the following statements: "My brother and I have contemplated dissolving partnership for several years, but never really saw our way clear to doing so until this season. The desire for the dissolution was mutual, and no ill-feeling has existed between us during our fong partnership. Our relations have always been of the most cordial description and the only cause for the breaking up of the firm is the desire that each of us has to be perfectly independent and to buy or sell herses as each may think fit, without having to consult with the other. The old firm of the Dwyer Bros. will remain in existence the rest of this season, although the entries made since August 15 for hext season's races have been made in

THE NAMES OF THE NEW FIRMS.

I have taken my son into partnership and the name of my firm will be Dwyer & Son. I cannot say whether or not my brother will have a partner or what the name of the firm will be. The business will be conducted for the remainder of this season as heretofore. We will have our annual sale as usual. What horses are left will be divided between us on terms wee may agree upon. I have purchased during this season ten yearlings and my brother has bought eight. These we have entered in all the prominent 2 and 5-year-old events for the next two seasons in the name of the new firms. "Michael F. Dwyer declined to see any callers last evening. His wife said Mr. Dwyer was too ill in bed to see or converse with any one. "Nothing serious," she hastily added, "but another attack of the old bilious trouble that has bothered bim so much during the past year. I suppose I know what you have called to inquire about. I have seen what was printed in the papers, and that is our first knowledge of the matter. If it is true that my husband and his brother are about to dissolve partnership I know nothing about it."

Base Ball Notes.

Rochester has Pitcher Calihan under sus-Duffee's stick has been lively in the last couple of series.

Jimmy Knowles and Billy Greenwood are both big favorites in St. Louis. The Browns were all out practicing yester-tay. They are all in fine shape. Stivetts says all he needs is a little practice and he will regain command of the ball. Harry Lyons is here with the Rochesters. Harry is batting the ball "out of sight."

If the Athletics play ball at Louisville like they did here the Colonels will not have very easy sailing. Ed Cartwright has recently begun to line the ball out on the home grounds. Ed's hitting is improving wonderfully. If the Athletics will only take a couple of games from Louisville within the next few days the Browns will try hard to lay the Bochesters out.
